About the Programme

The teacher education in India, over the years, has been striving to provide high-quality training to teachers for higher levels of proficiency and professionalism. Unlike the teachers in school education, a faculty in Higher Education is likely to join the teaching profession without any formal training in the aspects of teaching, learning, and assessment. In-depth understanding and capacity building in these areas along with awareness of policies, governance, administrative structures, and goals in Higher Education helps the newly recruited teachers entering Higher Education to improve their teaching and management skills, adjust to the culture of Higher Education institutions, and better comprehend their professional responsibilities. Specialized training in curriculum planning, pedagogical strategies, generating new knowledge for an equitable society, maintenance of academic integrity, and integrating sustainability in teaching and personal life are vital aspects of a teacher's role as a nation builder. With these goals in mind, MHRD and UGC have jointly worked towards developing a broad Faculty Induction Programme (FIP) Content Framework to facilitate the induction of new teachers to the Higher Education system.

This FIP is being conducted by the Human Resource Development Centre (HRDC) Ramanujan College, University of Delhi, and is being sponsored by the UGC- Malaviya National Mission on Teacher Training.

The main objective of the mandatory induction programmes is to sensitize and motivate the faculty to adopt learner-centric approaches, ICT-integrated learning, and new pedagogic approaches to teaching-learning and assessment tools in Higher Education. This induction programme will include teaching and research methodologies (flip classrooms, collaborative learning, case approach), use of ICT, curriculum structure and design, sensitization to gender and social diversity, professional ethics, sharing of best practices, and acquiring skills to update oneself and develop a holistic and multi-disciplinary approach in pedagogic practices. Faculty development has a critical role to play in promoting academic excellence and innovation. This is one of the priority actions aimed at improving the professional capability and performance of teachers to deliver effective and quality learning. Hence, Faculty Induction Programmes will include the four possible types of development: personal (interpersonal skills, career development, and life planning issues), instructional (course design and development, instructional technology) organizational (ways to improve the institutional environment to better support teaching) and professional (ways to support faculty members so that they fulfill their multiple roles of teaching, research, and service).

We hope this focused programme will be of immense value to the participants.
