ABOUT THE COURSE

Information and Communication Technology (ICT) has revolutionized the functioning of every single system in our society making our lives better, easier and somewhat simpler. This revolution has also largely affected two important aspects of human development: research and study. This is the era of technology and we as teachers need to develop our competency to adapt to this because we do not only affect our lives but also touch those of our students. The objective of the course is to give the participants an insight into the innovations in teaching, research and ways in which ICT can be used in teaching.

FOCUS OF THE PROGRAMME

The concept behind this Faculty Development Programme is to inculcate skills in the teaching fraternity that relate to the usage of ICT for comprehensive research. An attempt will be made to provide conceptual understanding for research outcomes with lucid examples. The focus of the programme will be to develop an understanding of advances in research methods in the field of Commerce and Management. The main focus would be hands-on practical sessions on software that have inbuilt features to address challenges and opportunities in the field of research and to help conduct their study in an accurate and meaningful way. The programme will tentatively cover the following:

- Analytical Tools for Causal Research – One-Way ANOVA, Two-Way ANOVA; ANCOVA; Exploratory Factor Analysis and Multiple Discriminant Analysis
- Econometrics – Simple Regression and Multiple Regression, Use of Dummy variables in Regression Model, Assumptions and Violations of Assumptions; Probit/Logit Model
- Familiarizing with the software like Eviews and SPSS
- Skill-based training in LaTeX
- Signature Pedagogies used in the Management Education
- Case Method: Preparing to Teach With Cases
- Publishing Research Papers in Top-notch Journals
- Content and Learning Management Systems: Moodle and Drupal
- Introduction to Features of a MOOC Platform, Designing and Developing a MOOC

METHODOLOGY

The programme will be conducted through a combination of hands-on assignments and live projects, interactive lectures, discussions, presentations, study content (wherever required) and evaluation tests.
